Researching Artworks
Charles C. Myers Library

In order to find scholarly articles on your artwork, you'll first need some background information.

So what do you need to know?
Think about the information you would find on the plaque next to a painting in a museum.

What is it called?
When was it created?
To what art period or movement does it belong?

Use an art database or encyclopedia to find the answers to these questions:

- Encyclopedia of World Art
- ARTstor
